

Feb 2

[Faint handwritten notes, possibly bleed-through from the reverse side.]

The document is a handwritten Greek text, likely a legal or official document, written in a cursive script. It contains several lines of text, some of which are crossed out with a single horizontal line. The text is written on a piece of paper that has a faint, circular watermark or seal in the center. The watermark appears to be a coat of arms or a similar official emblem. The text is written in a dark ink, and the paper shows signs of age and wear.

[The page contains dense handwritten Greek text in a cursive script, likely from the 18th or 19th century. The text is written on aged paper and includes several corrections and insertions. A large watermark featuring a classical profile head is visible across the center of the page.]